

Michael Barber

From 25 years of living on the Redcliffe Peninsula, Michael has an extensive local knowledge of the area and it's property market. Michael enjoys interaction with people and his background in personal training is a tribute to this. Every day in real estate can be so different and he thrives on learning the finer points of the Real Estate industry in a great team environment. He is looking forward to establishing a successful career helping people buy and sell properties, and believes his honesty and relaxed personality will continue to help him relate to a wide range of clients. A love of sales and property development and the ability to help his clients has and always will be Michael's passion.
